

Unibag careers and job opportunities

Technician/Trainer

The Technician/Trainer is responsible for setting up the bag machines and training the Machine Operators. They must have an extensive knowledge of their specialist machines, supporting services and spares, and be skilled in setting up and operating those machines. Unibag employs and may have vacancies from time to time for specialist technicians in Triumph, Matador and Befanco bag making machines.

Machine Operators

Machine Operators are skilled in specific bag making machines, and are responsible for machine setting, achieving daily production schedules and achieving high quality output of finished product at all times. Operators are required to undertake daily machine maintenance such as cleaning, oiling and greasing. Unibag regularly has opportunities for operators of Befanco, Matador and Triumph bag machines.

Product Line Packers

Packers must be able to count, handle, move and sort goods coming off the bag machines into packaging of various types in an accurate, efficient and speedy manner. They must be able to spot and assess possible quality problems and alert the operator for speedy corrective action. Unibag usually has vacancies for efficient line packers at most times during the year. Day, night or weekend shift options are available.

Warehouse Staff

Unibag may occasionally have opportunities for Warehouse Staff. They would be responsible for receiving of incoming goods into store, the efficient, tidy and accurate recording and storage of goods, issuing paper and other material to production, receiving finished goods from production, and distribution of products to customers. Forklift operating, truck loading and unloading, and basic computer skills are a requirement of Warehouse Staff.

Flexographic Printers and Printer Assistants

Unibag operates a significant number of 3, 4 and 6 colour flexographic printers. These include stand-alone printers and many inline printers attached to bag making machines. Unibag will from time to time have vacancies for qualified printers and print assistants who must be experienced in the operation of wide-web flexographic printers, and able to take jobs from the pre-press stage to the finished product. Day, night or weekend shift work may be available.

Sales Account Managers

Sales Account Managers are responsible for all aspects in achieving the company's annual and ongoing sales targets. They are required to maximise existing client business relationships, maintain a high level of customer satisfaction, generate and close new sales and follow up on sales leads generated by other resources.

Account Managers will have high interpersonal skills, presentation abilities, ability to prioritise, personal integrity and excellent verbal and written communication skills. Account Managers are required to regularly travel and work extra hours to ensure all sales opportunities and targets are achieved. Unibag will regularly have opportunities open to join their sales team.
